WORLD'S LARGEST EDUCATION HACKATHON IS 10.23.15

HackingEDU Hackathon

10.23.15 - 10.25.15 @ San Mateo Event Center

$100K+ in Cash & Prizes!

HackingEDU is the World's Largest Education Hackathon. On October 23rd, over 1000 hackers will battle for 36 hours to create revolutionary products that will redefine the education system. We are bringing together students from every major school in California and beyond to inspire and empower them to change the world. The current education system is inherently flawed and institutions are too large and slow to adopt changes. That's why we, as students, are taking matters into our own hands.

Top Sponsors

Our Training Day event at PayPal HQ had a packed house at 400 attendees and over 1500 signups. We hosted 12 hands-on workshops followed by a keynote talk by Guillermo Rauch and Jacob Thornton, founders of Socket.IO and Twitter Bootstrap.

Want to see more? Check out our Training Day Recap Video

The Hackathon is just the beginning – we are building a network of students, companies, and educators who are passionate about changing education and will work together to turn innovative ideas into a reality. We've already received tons of interest from students, with over 500 signups in the first 24 hours of applications. With all of these sharp minds working together, we can Invent the Future!

Press & Media

As featured in:

For Media & Press inquiries, contact us at: team@hackingedu.co

HackingEDU Logos & Photos